Two Distinct Batteries in One Case.

NO PHYSICIAN CAN AFFORD TO BE WITHOUT ONE.

Our Batteries are constructed on an improved plan. The zincs and carbons are fastened to hard rubber plates in sections of six each. The cells are composed of one piece of hard rubber, and are made in sections of six each, with a drip-cup. This is the only Battery in which the zinc and carbon plates can be kept clean and always in order by simply rinsing them. An extra large cell is added to the combined batteries for the purpose of producing the Faradic current. All the metal-work is finely nickel-plated and highly polished, and every part is put together so that it can be easily replaced by the operator.

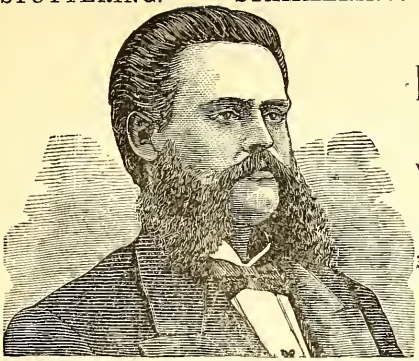
STUTTERING. STAMMERING.



DOCTOR

E. L. RIVENBURGH,

Proprietor of the

WORLD'S VOCAL INSTITUTE.

S. E. cor. Washington and Fifth Av.,

Rooms 16 & 17,

—CHICAGO.—

☞Stuttering, stammering and all speech impediments cured. I remove the cause of stammering, and therefore the cure is permanent. The only scientific and successful method practiced. I warrant to cure the worst case of stammering in a few weeks. If you have tried to be cured and are not, remember I guarantee to cure. I have made the treatment of Stammering and all Defects in Speech a specialty for the past 17 years, and have cured over 1,600 cases. My method has never failed. Entrance Nos. 168 & 170 Washington St. and 105 Fifth Ave., Chicago.

IT IS WONDERFUL, YET IT'S TRUE.

From the Chicago Tribune.—Last week (Tuesday) a young man arrived from Portland, N. Y. He stammered at a fearful rate. Indeed, it took him longer to tell his name than it would a quick-tongued man to read a chapter in one of Reade's novels. The same young man was met yesterday, and was heard with a number of other young men and ladies who have been afflicted in a similar manner, and who are attending Dr. Rivenburgh's Vocal institute, to speak out fluently, and read without any perceptible hesitancy in speech. Each and every one under the doctor's treatment is loud in his praise, and advises any one who has any speech impediments to seek Dr. Rivenburgh for relief. His Vocal institute is located at 168 and 170 Washington St.

CHICAGO, ILL., Feb. 1, 1888.—I am willing to testify that Dr. E. L. Rivenburgh, specialist in the treatment of stammering, is and has been entirely successful in several cases that have come to my notice. In one case a pupil of mine, who did not recite orally during his school course, by reason of an infirmity of speech now speaks readily and easily after a short treatment by Dr. Rivenburgh. The doctor claims that he can wholly cure any case, and I believe he can.

ILLINOIS MEDICAL PRACTICE ACT.

AN ACT TO REGULATE THE PRACTICE OF MEDICINE IN THE STATE OF ILLINOIS. APPROVED JUNE 16, 1887, IN FORCE JULY 12, 1887.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the People of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly, That no person shall practice medicine in any of its departments in this State, unless such person possesses the qualifications required by this act. If a graduate in medicine, he shall present his diploma to the State Board of Health for verification as to its genuineness. If the diploma is found genuine, and from a legally chartered medical institution in good standing, and if the person named therein be the person claiming and presenting the same, the State Board of Health shall issue its certificate to that effect, signed by all the members thereof, and such certificate shall be conclusive as to the right of the lawful holder of the same to practice medicine in this State. If not a graduate, the person practicing medicine in this State shall present himself before said board and submit himself to such examination as the board may require, and if the examination be satisfactory to the board, the said board shall issue its certificate in accordance with the facts, and the lawful holder of such certificate shall be entitled to all the rights and privileges herein mentioned.

SEC. 2.* The State Board of Health shall organize within three months after the passage of this act, it shall procure a seal, and shall receive through its secretary applications for certificates and examinations; the president and secretary shall have authority to adminster oaths, and the board to take testimony in all matters relating to its duties; it shall issue certificates to all who furnish satisfactory proof of having received diplomas or licenses from legally chartered medical institutions in good standing as may be determined by the board; it shall prepare three forms of certificates, one for persons in possession of such diplomas or licenses, the second for candidates examined and favorably passed on by the board, and a third for persons to whom certificates may be issued as hereinafter provided in section 12 of this act; it shall furnish to the county clerks of the several counties a list of all persons receiving certificates. In selecting places to hold its meetings, it shall, as far as is reasonable, accommodate applicants residing in differ nt sections of the State, and due notice shall be published of all of its meetings for examination. Certificates shall be signed by all the members of the board, and the secretary of the board shall receive from the applicant a fee of five (5) dollars for each certificate issued to such graduate or licentiate. Graduates or licentiates in midwifery to pay the sum of two (2) for each certificate. All such fees for certificates shall be paid by the secretary into the treasury of the board.

*See act establishing State Board of Health, post.

SEC. 3. The verification of the diploma shall consist in the affidavit of the holder and applicant that he is the lawful possessor of the same, and that he is the person therein named. Such affidavit may be taken before any person authorized to administer oaths, and the same shall be attested under the hand and official seal of such officer, if he have a seal; and any person swearing falsely shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and punished accordingly. Graduates may present their diplomas and affidavits as provided in this act, by letter or by proxy, and the State Board of Health shall issue its certificate the same as though the owner of the diploma was present.

SEC. 4. All examinations of persons not graduates or licentiates, shall be made directly by the board, and the certificates given by the board shall authorize the possessor to practice medicine and surgery in the State of Illinois.

SEC. 5. Every person holding a certificate from the State Board of Health shall have it recorded in the office of the clerk of the county in which he resides, within three months from its date, and the date of recording shall be indorsed thereon. Until such certificate is recorded as herein provided the holder thereof shall not exercise any of the rights or privileges conferred therein to practice medicine. Any person removing to another county to practice shall record the certificate in like manner in the county to which he removes, and the holder of the certificate shall pay to the county clerk the usual fees for making the record.

SEC. 6. The county clerk shall keep, in a book provided for the purpose, a complete list of the certificates recorded by him, with the date of the issue of the certificate. If the certificate be based on a diploma or license, he shall record the name of the medical institution conferring it, and the date when conferred. The register of the county clerk shall be open to public inspection during business hours.

SEC. 7. The fees for the examination of non-graduates shall be as follows: twenty (20) dollars for an examination in medicine and surgery; ten (10) dollars for an examination in midwifery only; and said fees shall be paid into the treasury of the board. If an applicant fails to pass said examination his or her fee shall be returned. Upon successfully passing the examination the certificate of the board shall be issued to the applicant without further charge.

SEC. 8. Examinations may be made in whole or in part writing, and shall be of an elementary and practical character, but sufficiently strict to test the qualifications of the candidate as a practitioner.

SEC. 9. The State Board of Health may refuse to issue the certificates, provided for in section 2 to individuals guilty of unprofessional or dishonorable conduct, and it may revoke such certificates for like causes. In all cases of refusal or revocation, the applicant may appeal to the Governor, who may affirm or overrule the decision of the board, and this decision shall be final.

SEC. 10. Any person shall be regarded as practicing medicine, within the meaning of this act, who shall treat, operate on, or prescribe for any physical ailment of another. And this act shall not apply to commissioned surgeons of the United States Army, Navy or Marine Hospital Service in the discharge of their official duties.

SEC. 11. Any itinerate vendor of any drug, nostrum, ointment or appliance of any kind, intended for the treatment of disease or injury, or who shall, by writing or printing, or any other method, profess to cure or treat disease or deformity, by any drug, nostrum, manipulation or other expedient, shall pay a license of one hundred (100) dollars per month into the treasury of the board, to be collected by the State Board of Health, in the name of the People of the State of Illinois for the use of said Board of Health. And it shall be lawful for the State Board of Health to issue such license on application made to the State Board of Health, such license to be signed by the president of the board and attested by the secretary of the board, with the seal of the board. Any such itinerate vendor who shall vend or sell any such drug, nostrum, ointment or appliance without having a license so to do, shall, if found guilty, be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars, and not exceeding two hundred dollars for each offense, to be recovered in an action of debt before any court of competent jurisdiction. But such board may, for sufficient cause, refuse such license.

SEC. 12. * Any person practicing medicine or surgery in the State without the certificate issued by this board in compliance with the provisions of this act, shall for each and every instance of such practice forfeit and pay to the people of the State of Illinois, for the use of the said State Board of Health, the sum of one hundred (100) dollars for the first offense, and two hundred (200) dollars for each subsequent offense, the same to be recovered in an action of debt before any court of competent jurisdiction and any person filing, or attempting to file, as his own, the diploma or certificate of another, or a forged affidavit of identification, shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction, shall be subject to such fine and imprisonment as are made and provided by the statutes of the State for the crime of forgery: Provided, that all persons who have been practicing medicine continuously for ten years within this State prior to the taking effect of the act† to which this is an amendment, and who have not under said original act obtained a certificate from said Board of Health to practice medicine in this State, shall, upon proper application to said Board of Health receive such certificate, unless it shall be ascertained and determined by said Board of Health that the person so applying for a certificate is of immoral character, or guilty of unprofessional or dishonorable conduct, in which case, said Board of Health may reject such application: And, provided, that such application for a certificate shall be made within six months after the taking effect of this act, and all persons holding a certificate on account of ten years' practice shall be subject to all the requirements and discipline of this act, and the act to which this is an amendment, in regard to their future conduct in the practice of medicine the same as all other persons holding certificates, and all persons not having applied for or received such certificate within six months after the taking effect of this act, and all persons whose applications have for the causes herein named been rejected, or certificates revoked, shall, if they shall practice medicine, be deemed guilty of practicing in violation of law, and shall suffer the penalties herein provided.

SEC. 13. Upon conviction of either of the offenses mentioned in this act, the court shall, as part of the judgment, order that the defendant be committed to the common jail of the county until the fine and costs are paid, and upon failure to pay the same immediately, the defendant shall be committed under said order Provided, that either party may appeal in the same time and manner as appeals may be taken in other cases, except that where an appeal is prayed in behalf of the people, no appeal bond shall be required to be filed, whether the appeal be from a justice of the peace, or from the county or circuit court, or from the ap-with said board of examiners, who shall keep a book for that purpose; and every person who shall so register with said board as a practitioner of dentistry, may continue to practice the same as such, without incurring any of the liabilities or penalties provided in this act.

SEC. 5. No person whose name is not registered on the books of said board as a regular practitioner of dentistry, within the time prescribed in the preceding section, shall be permitted to practice dentistry in this State until such person shall have been duly examined by said board and regularly licensed in accordance with the provisions of this act.

SEC. 6. Any and all persons, who shall so desire, may appear before said board at any of its regular meetings and be examined with reference to their knowledge and skill in dental surgery, and if the examination of any such person or persons shall prove satisfactory to said board, the board of examiners shall issue to such persons as they shall find from such examination to possess the requisite qualifications, a license to practice dentistry, in accordance with the provisions of this act. But said board shall at all times issue a license to any regular graduate of any reputable dental college without examination, upon the payment by such graduate to the said board of a fee of one dollar. All licenses issued by said board shall be signed by the members thereof, and be attested by its president and secretary; and such license shall be prima facie evidence of the right of the holder to practice dentistry in the State of Illinois.

SEC. 7. Any member of said board may issue a temporary license to any applicant, upon the presentation by such applicant of the evidence of the necessary qualifications, to practice dentistry, and such temporary license shall remain in force until the next regular meeting of said board occurring after the date of such temporary license, and no longer.

SEC. 8. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this act shall be liable to prosecution, before any court of competent jurisdiction, upon information or by indictment, and upon conviction may be fined not less than twenty-five dollars, nor more than fifty dollars, for each and every offense. All fines recovered under this act shall be paid into the common school fund of the county in which such conviction takes place.

SEC. 9. In order to provide the means for carrying out and maintaining the provisions of this act, the said board of examiners may charge each person applying to or appearing before them for examination for license to practice dentistry, a fee of two dollars, and out of the funds coming into the possession of the board from the fees so charged, the members of said board may receive as compensation the sum of five dollars for each day actually engaged in the duties of their office and all legitimate and necessary expenses incurred in attending the meetings of said board. Said expenses shall be paid from the fees and penalties received by the board under the provisions of this act. And no part of the salary or other expenses of the board shall ever be paid out of the State treasury. All moneys received in excess of said per diem allowance, and other expenses above provided for, shall be held by the secretary of said board as a special fund for meeting the expenses of said board, he giving such bond as the board shall from time to time direct. And said board shall make an annual report of its proceedings to the Governor, by the fifteenth of December of each year, together with an account of all moneys received and disbursed by them pursuant to this act.

SEC. 10. Any person who shall be licensed by said board to practice dentistry, shall cause his or her license to be registered with the county clerk of any county or counties in which such person may desire to engage in the practice of dentistry, and the county clerks of the several counties in this State shall charge for registering such license a fee of twenty-five cents for each registration. Any failure, neglect or refusal on the part of any person holding such license to register the same with the county clerk, as above directed, for a period of six months, shall work a forfeiture of the license, and no license, when once forfeited, shall be restored, except upon the payment to the said board of examiners of the sum of twenty-five dollars, as a penalty for such neglect, failure or refusal.

ILLINOIS STATE BOARD OF DENTAL EXAMINERS.

Members.—R. N. Lawrence, D. D. S., Lincoln, President; G. V. Black, M. D., D. D. S., Jacksonville; Homer Judd, M. D., D. D. S., Upper Alton; C. A. Kitchell, Rockford; C. R. E. Koch, Chicago, Secretary. Office of Secretary, 3011 Indiana Ave.; hours, 8 a. m. to 1 p. m.

The above law, as construed by the Attorney General, makes it obligatory upon every dentist who commenced the practice of dentistry in the State of Illinois after July 1, 1881, or who shall hereafter commence such practice, to obtain a license from the board of examiners. Those dentists who hold diplomas from reputable* dental colleges can obtain license by proving their diplomas and paying a fee of one dollar for the same.

All others must appear before the board for examination.

All persons not holding diplomas, and desiring to commence practice before the regular meeting of the board of examiners, must apply to some member of the board for examination, for temporary license, which, if issued, will be valid until the next meeting of the board, at which time the person holding a temporary license must appear before the board for final examination.

The fee for each examination is two dollars. Examinations will be conducted in writing in Theory and Practice of Dentistry, and Clinical Dentistry; Anatomy, Histology and Surgery; Physiology, Pathology, Therapeutics and Materia Medica, Chemistry and Metallurgy, Prosthetic Dentistry, Deformities and Hygiene.

Practical demonstrations in operative dentistry will also be required.

Seventy-five per cent. of the whole number of questions must be correctly answered to entitle a person to a license; but any candidate who fails to answer correctly seventy-five per cent. of the questions in either of the following subjects, namely: Theory and Practice, Anatomy, Physiology, Pathology and Surgery, even though his general average should be seventy-five per cent. on the whole number of questions asked, will not be entitled to a license.

No persons who are not registered on the books of the board, or who do not hold license, can legally practice dentistry in this State, and if they attempt to do so, will be liable to prosecution for such illegal practice.

*The following resolution was adopted at the annual meeting held in Springfield, September, 1884.

Resolved, That after June, 1885, The Illinois State Board of Dental Examiners will recognize as reputable only such dental colleges as require as a requisite for graduation, attendance upon two full regular courses of lectures and practical instruction, which courses shall each be of not less than five months' duration, and shall be held in separate years, with practical instruction intervening between the courses. Such colleges must also require a preliminary examination before admitting students to matriculation; provided, that no certificate from a high or normal school or other literary institution, is presented by the candidate.

The regular meetings of the board will be held on the third Monday of September, in the State House, at Springfield, and on the second Monday of May, at such place as the Illinois State Dental Society may meet, due notice of which may be found in the Dental journals.

AN ACT.

TO REGULATE THE PRACTICE OF PHARMACY IN THE STATE OF ILLINOIS—APPROVED MAY 30, 1881—IN FORCE JULY 1, 1881.

Be it enacted by the People of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly, SECTION 1. That it shall not be lawful for any person other than a registered pharmacist to retail, compound or dispense drugs, medicines or poisons, or to open or conduct any pharmacy or store for retailing, compounding or dispensing drugs, medicines or poisons, unless such persons shall be, or shall employ and place in charge of said pharmacy or store a registered pharmacist, within the meaning of this act, except as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. Any person, in order to be registered within the meaning of this act, must be either a graduate in pharmacy, a graduate in medicine, or shall, at the time this act takes effect, be engaged in the business of a dispensing pharmacist on his own account, in the State of Illinois, in the preparation of physicians' prescriptions and in the vending and compounding of drugs, medicines and poisons, or shall be a licentiate in pharmacy.

SEC. 3. Graduates in pharmacy must be such persons as have had four years' practical experience in drug stores where the prescriptions of medical practitioners are compounded, and have obtained a satisfactory diploma or credentials of their attainments from a regular incorporated college or school of pharmacy.

SEC. 4. Licentiates in pharmacy must be such persons as have had two years' practical experience in drug stores where the prescriptions of medical practitioners are compounded, and have passed a satisfactory examination before the State Board of Pharmacy, hereinafter mentioned. The said Board may grant certificates of registration, without further examination, to the licentiates of such other Boards of Pharmacy as it may deem proper.

SEC. 5. The Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall appoint five persons from among such competent pharmacists in the State as have had ten years' practical experience in the dispensing of physicians' prescriptions who shall constitute the Board of Pharmacy. The persons so appointed shall hold their offices for five years: Provided, that the term of office of the five first appointed shall be so arranged that the term of one shall expire on the thirtieth day of December of each year; and the vacancies so created, as well as all vacancies otherwise occurring, shall be filled by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate: And, provided, also, that appointments made when the Senate is not in session may be confirmed at its next ensuing session. The Illinois Pharmaceutical Association shall annually report directly to the Governor, recommending the first year the names of at least ten persons, whom said association shall deem best qualified to serve as members of the Board of Pharmacy, and the names of at least three persons each year thereafter, to fill any vacancies which shall occur in said Board.

SEC. 6. The said Board shall, within thirty days after its appointment, meet and organize by the election of a President and Secretary, from its own members, who shall be elected for the term of one year, and shall perform the duties prescribed by the Board. It shall be the duty of the Board to examine all applications for registration submitted in proper form; to grant certificates of registration to such persons as may be entitled to the same under the provisions of this act; to cause the prosecution of all persons violating its provisions; to report annually to the Governor and to the Illinois Pharmaceutical Association upon the condition of Pharmacy in the State, which said report shall also furnish a record of the proceedings of the said Board for the year, and also the names of all pharmacists duly registered under this act. The Board shall hold meetings for the examination of applicants for registration, and the transaction of such other business as shall pertain to its duties, at least once in three months: Provided, that said Board shall hold meetings once in every year in the city of Chicago and in the city of Springfield, and it shall give thirty days' public notice of the time and place of such meetings; shall have power to make by-laws for the proper fulfillment of its duties under this act, and shall keep a book of registration, in which shall be entered the names and places of business of all persons registered under this act, which book shall also specify such facts as said persons shall claim to justify their registration. Three members of said Board shall constitute a quorum.

SEC. 7. *Every person claiming the right of registration under this act who shall, within three months after this act shall take effect, forward to the Board of Pharmacy satisfactory proof, supported by his affidavit, that he was engaged in the business of a dispensing pharmacist on his own account in this State at the time this act takes effect, as provided in Section Two, shall, upon the payment of the fee hereinafter mentioned, be granted a certificate of registration: Provided, that in case of failure or neglect to register as herein provided, then such person shall, in order to be registered, comply with the requirements provided for registration as a graduate in pharmacy or a licentiate in pharmacy within the meaning of this act.

SEC. 8.—Any assistant or clerk in pharmacy, who shall not have the qualification of a registered pharmacist within the meaning of this act, not less than eighteen years of age, who, at the time this act takes effect, shall have been employed or engaged two years or more in drug stores where the prescriptions of medical practitioners are compounded, and shall furnish satisfactory evidence to that effect to the State Board of Pharmacy, shall, upon making application for registration, and upon payment to the Secretary of the said Board of a fee of one dollar, within sixty days after this act takes effect, be entitled to a certificate as a "registered assistant," which said certificate shall entitle him to continue in such duties as clerk or assistant; but such certificate shall not entitle him to engage in business on his own account unless he shall have had at least five years' experience in pharmacy at the time of the passage of this act. Annually thereafter, during the time he shall continue in such duties, he shall pay to the said Secretary a sum not exceeding fifty cents, for which he shall receive a renewal of his certificate.

SEC. 9. Every person applying for registration as a registered pharmacist, under Section Seven of this act, shall, before a certificate is granted, pay to the Secretary of the Board the sum of two dollars, and a like sum shall be paid to said Secretary by graduates in pharmacy, [by] graduates of medicine, and by licentiates of other boards who shall apply for registration; and by every applicant for registration by examination shall be paid the sum of five dollars: Provided, that in case of the failure of any applicant to pass a satisfactory examination his money shall be refunded.

SEC. 10. Every registered pharmacist who desires to continue the practice of his profession, shall annually thereafter, during the time he shall continue in such practice, on such date as the Board of Pharmacy may determine, pay to the Secretary of the said Board a registration fee, to be fixed by the Board, but which shall in no case exceed two dollars, for which he shall receive a renewal of said registration. Every certificate of registration granted under this act shall be conspicuously exposed in the pharmacy to which it applies.

SEC. 11. The Secretary of the Board shall receive a salary, which shall be fixed by the Board; he shall also receive his traveling and other expenses incurred in the performance of his official duties. The other members of the Board shall receive the sum of five dollars for each day actually engaged in this service, and all legitimate and necessary expenses incurred in attending the meetings of said Board. Said expenses shall be paid from the fees and penalties received by the Board, under the provisions of this act, and no part of the salary or other expenses of the Board shall be paid out of the State treasury. All moneys received in excess of said per diem allowance and other expenses above provided for, shall be held by the Secretary as a special fund for meeting the expenses of said Board, he giving such bonds as the Board shall from time to time direct. The Board shall, in its annual report to the Governor and to the Illinois Pharmaceutical Association, render an account of all moneys received and disbursed by them pursuant to this act.

SEC. 12. Any person not being, or having, in his employ a registered pharmacist, within the meaning of this act, who shall, sixty days after this act takes effect keep a pharmacy, or store for retailing or compounding medicine, or who shall take, use or exhibit the title of a registered pharmacist, shall, for each and every such offense, be liable to a penalty of fifty dollars. Any registered pharmacist who shall permit the compounding and dispensing of prescriptions, or the vending of drugs, medicines or poisons in his store or place of business, except under the supervision of a registered pharmacist, or except by a "registered assistant" pharmacist, or any pharmacist or "registered assistant," who, while continuing in business, shall fail or neglect to procure his annual registration, or any person who shall willfully make any false representation to procure registration for himself or any other person, shall, for every such offense, be liable to a penalty of fifty dollars: Provided, that nothing in this act shall apply to nor in any manner interfere with the business of any physician, or prevent him from supplying to his patients such articles as may seem to him proper, nor with the making or vending of patent or proprietary medicines, or medicines placed in sealed packages, with the name of the contents and of the pharmacist or physician by whom prepared or compounded, nor with the sale of the usual domestic remedies by retail dealers, nor with the exclusively wholesale business of any dealers except as hereinafter provided: And provided, further, that no part of this section shall be so construed as to give the right to any physician to furnish any intoxicating liquor as a beverage, on prescription or otherwise.

SEC. 13. No person shall add to or remove from any drug, medicine, chemical or pharmaceutical preparation, any ingredient or material for the purpose of adulteration or substitution, or which shall deteriorate the quality, commercial value or medicinal effect, or which shall alter the nature or composition of such drug, medicine, chemical or pharmaceutical preparation, so that it will not correspond to the recognized tests of identity or purity. Any person who shall thus wilfully adulterate or alter, or cause to be adulterated or altered, or shall sell or offer for sale any such adulterated or altered drug, medicine, chemical or pharmaceutical preparation, or any person who shall substitute, or cause to be substituted, one material for another, with the intention to defraud or deceive the purchaser, shall be guilty of misdemeanor, and be liable to prosecution under this act. If convicted, he shall be liable to all the costs of the action and all expenses incurred by the Board of Pharmacy in connection therewith, and for the first offense be liable to a fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, and for each subsequent offense a fine of not less than seventy-five nor more than one hundred and fifty dollars. On complaint being entered, the Board of Pharmacy is hereby empowered to employ an analyst or chemist expert, whose duty it shall be to examine into the so claimed adulteration, substitution or alteration, and report upon the result of his investigation; and if said report justify such action, the Board shall duly cause the prosecution of the offender, as provided in this law.

SEC. 14. No person shall sell at retail any poison commonly recognized as such, and especially aconite, arsenic, belladonna, biniodide of mercury, carbolic acid, chloral hydrate, chloroform, conium, corrosive sublimate, creosote, croton oil, cyanide of potassium, digitalis, hydrocyanic acid, laudanum, morphine, nux vomica, oil of bitter almonds, opium, oxalic acid, strychnine, sugar of lead, sulphate of zinc, white precipitate, red precipitate, without affixing to the box, bottle, vessel or package containing the same, and to the wrapper or cover thereof, a label bearing the name of the article, and the word "poison" distinctly shown, with the name and place of business of the seller; he shall not deliver any of said poisons to any person under the age of fifteen years, nor shall he deliver any of said poisons to any person, without satisfying himself that such poison is to be used for a legitimate purpose: Provided, that nothing herein contained shall apply to the dispensing of physicians' prescriptions of any of the poisons or articles aforesaid. Any person failing to comply with the requirements of this section shall be liable to a penalty of five dollars for each and every such offense.

SEC. 15. All suits for the recovery of the several penalties prescribed in this act shall be prosecuted in the name of the "People of the State of Illinois," in any court having jurisdiction; it shall be the duty of the State's Attorney of the county where such offense is committed, to prosecute all persons violating the provisions of this act, upon proper complaint being made. All penalties collected under the provisions of this act shall inure, one-half to the Board of Pharmacy, and the remainder to the school fund of the county in which the suit was prosecuted and judgment obtained.

NATIONAL CODES OF ETHICS.

CODE OF ETHICS OF THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION ADOPTED MAY, 1847.

OF THE DUTIES OF PHYSICIANS TO THEIR PATIENTS, AND OF THE OBLIGATIONS OF PATIENTS TO THEIR PHYSICIANS.

Article I. Duties of Physicians to their Patients.

SECTION 1. A physician should not only be ever ready to obey the calls of the sick, but his mind ought also to be imbued with the greatness of his mission, and the responsibility he habitually incurs in its discharge. Those obligations are the more deep and enduring, because there is no tribunal, other than his own conscience, to adjudge penalties for carelessness or neglect. Physicians should, therefore, minister to the sick with due impressions of the importance of their office; reflecting that the ease, the health and the lives of those committed to their charge depend on their skill, attention and fidelity. They should study, also, in their deportment, so as to unite tenderness with firmness, and condescension with authority, so as to inspire the minds of their patients with gratitude, respect and confidence.

SEC. 2. Every case committed to the charge of a physician should be treated with attention, steadiness and humanity. Reasonable indulgence should be granted to the mental imbecility and caprices of the sick. Secrecy and delicacy, when required by peculiar circumstances, should be strictly observed; and the familiar and confidential intercourse to which physicians are admitted in their professional visits should be used with discretion, and with the most scrupulous regard to fidelity and honor. The obligation of secrecy extends beyond the period of professional service; none of the privacies of personal and domestic life, no infirmity of disposition or flaw of character observed during professional attendance should ever be divulged by the physician, except when he is imperatively required to do so. The force and necessity of this obligation are indeed so great, that professional men have under certain circumstances, been protected in their observance of secrecy by courts of justice.

SEC. 3. Frequent visits to the sick are, in general, requisite, since they enable the physician to arrive at a more perfect knowledge of the disease—to meet promptly every change which may occur, and also tend to preserve the confidence of the patient. But unnecessary visits are to be avoided, as they give useless anxiety to the patient, tend to diminish the authority of the physician, and render him liable to be suspected of interested motives.

SEC. 4. A physician should not be forward to make gloomy prognostications, because they savor of empiricism, by magnifying the importance of his services in the treatment or cure of the disease. But he should not fail, on proper occasions, to give to the friends of the patient timely notice of danger, when it really occurs; and even to the patient himself, if absolutely necessary. This office, however, is so peculiarly alarming when executed by him, that it ought to be declined, whenever it can be assigned to any other person of sufficient judgment and delicacy. For the physician should be the minister of hope and comfort to the sick; that by such cordials to the drooping spirit he may smooth the bed of death, revive expiring life, and counteract the depressing influence of those maladies which often disturb the tranquility of the most resigned in their last moments. The life of a sick person can be shortened, not only by the acts, but also by the words or the manner of a physician. It is, therefore, a sacred duty to guard himself carefully in this respect, and to avoid all things which have a tendency to discourage the patient and depress the spirits.

SEC. 5. A physician ought not to abandon a patient because the case is deemed incurable; for his attendance may continue to be highly useful to the patient, and comforting to the relatives around him, even in the last period of a fatal malady, by alleviating pain and other symptoms, and by soothing mental anguish. To decline attendance, under such circumstances, would be sacrificing to fanciful delicacy and mistaken liberality that moral duty which is independent of and far superior to all pecuniary consideration.

SEC. 6. Consultations should be promoted in difficult or protracted cases, as they give rise to confidence, energy, and more enlarged views in practice.

SEC. 7. The opportunity which a physician not infrequently enjoys, of promoting and strengthening the good resolutions of his patients suffering under the consequences of vicious conduct, ought never to be neglected. His counsels, or even remonstrances, will give satisfaction, not offense, if they be proffered with politeness, and evince a genuine love of virtue, accompanied by a sincere interest in the welfare of the person to whom they are addressed.

Art. II. Obligations of Patients to Their Physicians.

SEC. 1. The members of the medical profession, upon whom is enjoined the performance of so many important and arduous duties toward the community, and who are required to make so many sacrifices of comfort, ease and health for the welfare of those who avail themselves of their services, certainly have a right to expect and require that their patients should entertain a just sense of the duties which they owe to their medical attendants.

SEC. 2. The first duty of a patient is to select as his medical adviser one who has received a regular professional education. In no trade or occupation do mankind rely on the skill of an untaught artist; and in medicine, confessedly the most difficult and intricate of the sciences, the world ought not to suppose that knowledge is intuitive.

SEC. 3. Patients should prefer a physician whose habits of life are regular, and who is not devoted to company, pleasure, or to any pursuit incompatible with his professional obligations. A patient should also confide the the care of himself and family, as much as possible, to one physician; for a medical man who has become acquainted with the peculiarities of constitution, habits and predispositions of those he attends, is more likely to be successful in his treatment than one who does not possess that knowledge.

A patient who has thus selected his physician should always apply for advice in what may appear to him trivial cases, for the most fatal results often supervene on the slightest accidents. It is of still more importance that he should apply for assistance in the forming stage of violent diseases; it is to a neglect of this precept that medicine owes much of the uncertainty and imperfection with which it has been reproached.

SEC. 4. Patients should faithfully and unreservedly communicate to their physician the supposed cause of their disease. This is the more important, as many diseases of a mental origin stimulate those depending on external causes, and yet are only to be cured by ministering to the mind diseased. A patient should never be afraid of thus making his physician his friend and adviser; he should always bear in mind that a medical man is under the strongest obligations of secrecy. Even the female sex should never allow feelings of shame or delicacy to prevent their disclosing the seat, symptoms and causes of complaints peculiar to them. However commendable a modest reserve may be in the common occurrences of life, its strict observance in medicine is often attended with most serious consequences, and a patient may sink under a painful and loathsome disease, which might have been readily prevented had timely intimation been given to the physician.

Sec. 5. A patient should never weary his physician with a tedious detail of events or matters not appertaining to his disease. Even as relates to his actual symptoms, he will convey much more real information by giving clear answers to interrogatories, than by the most minute account of his own framing. Neither should he obtrude upon his physician the details of his business, nor the history of his family concerns.

Sec. 6. The obedience of a patient to the prescriptions of his physician should be prompt and implicit. He should never permit his own crude opinions as to their fitness to influence his attention to them. A failure in one particular may render an otherwise judicious treatment dangerous, and even fatal. This remark is equally applicable to diet, drink and exercise. As patients become convalescent, they are very apt to suppose that the rules prescribed for them may be disregarded, and the consequence, but too often, is a relapse. Patients should never allow themselves to be persuaded to take any medicine whatever that may be recommended to them by the self-constituted doctors and doctresses who are so frequently met with, and who pretend to possess infallible remedies for the cure of every disease. However simple some of their prescriptions may appear to be, it often happens that they are productive of much mischief, and in all cases they are injurious, by contravening the plans of treatment adopted by the physician.

Sec. 7. A patient should, if possible, avoid even the friendly visits of a physician who is not attending him—and when he does receive them, he should never converse on the subject of his disease, as an observation may be made witho y intention of interference, which may destroy his confidence in the course is pursuing, and induce him to neglect the directions prescribed to him. A patient should never send for a consulting physician without the express consent of his own medical attendant. It is of great importance that physicians should act in concert; for although their modes of treatment may be attended with equal success when employed singly, yet conjointly they are very likely to be productive of disastrous results.

Sec. 8. When a patient wishes to dismiss his physician, justice and common courtesy require that he should declare his reasons for so doing.

Sec. 9. Patients should always, when practicable, send for their physician in the morning, before his usual hours for going out; for, by being early aware of the visits he has to pay during the day, the physician is able to apportion his time in such a manner as to prevent an interference of engagements. Patients should also avoid calling on their medical adviser unnecessarily during the hours devoted to meals or sleep. They should always be in readiness to receive the visits of their physician, as the detention of a few minutes is often a serious inconvenience to him.

Sec. 10. A patient should, after his recovery, entertain a just and enduring sense of the value of the services rendered him by his physician; for these are of such a character that no mere pecuniary acknowledgement can repay or cancel them.

OF THE DUTIES OF PHYSICIANS TO EACH OTHER AND TO THE PROFESSION AT LARGE.

Article I.—Duties for the Support of Professional Character.

SECTION 1.—Every individual, on entering the profession, as he becomes thereby entitled to all its privileges and immunities, incurs an obligation to exert his best abilities to maintain its dignity and honor, to exalt its standing, and to extend the bounds of its usefulness. He should, therefore, observe strictly such laws as are instituted for the government of its members; should avoid all contumelious and sarcastic remarks relative to the faculty as a body; and while, by unwearied diligence, he resorts to every honorable means of enriching the science, he should entertain a due respect for his seniors, who have, by their labors, brought it to the elevated condition in which he finds it.

SEC. 2. It is not in accord with the interest of the public or the honor of the profession that any physician or medical teacher should examine or sign diplomas or certificates of proficiency for, or otherwise be specially concerned with, the graduation of persons whom they have good reason to believe intend to support and practice any exclusive and irregular system of medicine. (Sec. 2 was adopted in Richmond, 1881.)

SEC. 3. There is no profession from the members of which greater purity of character, and a higher standard of moral excellence is required, than the medical; and to attain such eminence is a duty every physician owes alike to his profession and to his patients. It is due to the latter, as without it he cannot command their respect and confidence, and to both, because no scientific attainments can compensate for the want of correct moral principles. It is also incumbent upon the faculty to be temperate in all things, for the practice of physic requires the unremitting exercise of a clear and vigorous understanding; and on emergencies, for which no professional man should be unprepared, a steady hand, an acute eye, and an unclouded head, may be essential to the well-being, and even to the life, of a fellow-creature.

SEC. 4. It is derogatory to the dignity of the profession to resort to public advertisements, or private cards, or handbills, inviting the attention of individuals affected with particular diseases—publicly offering advice and medicine to the poor, gratis, or promising radical cures; or to publish cases and operations in the daily prints, or to suffer such publications to be made; to invite laymen to be present at operations; to boast of cures and remedies; to adduce certificates of skill and success; or to perform any other similar acts. These are the ordinary practices of empirics, and are highly reprehensible in a regular physician.

SEC. 5. Equally derogatory to professional character is it for a physician to hold a patent for any surgical instrument or medicine; or to dispense a secret nostrum, whether it be the composition or exclusive property of himself or of others. For, if such nostrum be of real efficacy, any concealment regarding it is inconsistent with beneficence and professional liberality; and if mystery alone give it value and importance, such craft implies either disgraceful ignorance or fraudulent avarice. It is also reprehensible for physicians to give certificates attesting the efficacy of patent or secret medicines, or in any way to promote the use of them.

Art. II.—Professional Services of Physicians to Each Other.

SEC. 1. All practitioners of medicine, their wives, and their children while under the parental care, are entitled to the gratuitous services of any one or more of the faculty residing near them, whose assistance may be required. A physician afflicted with disease is usually an incompetent judge of his own case; and the natural anxiety and solicitude which he experiences at the sickness of a wife, a child, or any one who, by the ties of consanguinity, is rendered peculiarly dear to him, tend to obscure his judgment, and produce timidity and irresolution in his practice. Under such circumstances, medical men are peculiarly dependent upon each other, and kind offices and professional aid should always be cheerfully and gratuitously afforded. Visits ought not, however, to be obtruded officiously, as such unasked civility may give rise to embarassment or interfere with that choice on which confidence depends. But if a distant member of the faculty, whose circumstances are affluent, request attendance and an honorarium be offered, it should not be declined, for no pecuniary obligation ought to be imposed which the party receiving it would wish not to incur.

Art. III.—Of the Duties of Physicians as Respects Vicarious Offices.

Sec. 1. The affairs of life, the pursuit of health, and the various accidents and contingencies to which a medical man is peculiarly exposed, sometimes require him temporarily to withdraw from his duties to his patients, and to request some of his professional brethren to officiate for him. Compliance with this request is an act of courtesy, which should always be performed with the utmost consideration for the interest and character of the family physician, and when exercised for a short period, all the pecuniary obligations for such service should be awarded to him. But if a member of the profession neglect his business in quest of pleasure and amusement, he cannot be considered as entitled to the advantages of the frequent and long-continued exercise of this fraternal courtesy, without awarding to the physician who officiates the fees arising from the discharge of his professional duties.

In obstetrical and important surgical cases, which give rise to unusual fatigue, anxiety and responsibility, it is just that the fees accruing therefrom should be awarded to the physician who officiates.

Art. IV.—Of the Duties of Physicians in Regard to Consultation.

Sec. 1. A regular medical education furnishes the only presumptive evidence of professional abilities and acquirements, and ought to be the only acknowledged right of an individual to the exercise and honors of his profession. Nevertheless, as in consultation the good of the patient is the sole object in view, and this is often dependent on personal confidence, no intelligent regular practitioner, who has a license to practice from some Medical Board of known and acknowledged respectability recognized by this Association, and who is in good moral and professional standing in the place in which he resides, should be fastidiously excluded from fellowship, or his aid refused in consultation, when it is requested by the patient. But no one can be considered as a regular practitioner or a fit associate in consultation whose practice is based upon an exclusive dogma, to the rejection of the accumulated experience of the profession, and of the aids actually furnished by anatomy, physiology, pathology, and organic chemistry.

Sec. 2. In consultations, no rivalship or jealousy should be indulged; candor, probity, and all due respect should be exercised towards the physician having charge of the case.

Sec. 3. In consultations, the attending physician should be the first to propose the necessary questions to the sick; after which the consulting physician should have the opportunity to make such further inquiries of the patient as may be necessary to satisfy him of the true character of the case. Both physicians should then retire to a private place for deliberation, and the one first in attendance should communicate the directions agreed upon to the patient or his friends, as well as any opinions which it may be thought proper to express. But no statement or discussion of it should take place before the patient or his friends, except in the presence of all the faculty attending, and by their common consent, and no opinions or prognostications should be delivered which are not the result of previous deliberation and concurrence.

Sec. 4. In consultation, the physician in attendance should deliver his opinion first; and when there are several consulting, they should deliver their opinions in the order in which they have been called in. No decision, however, should restrain the attending physician from making such variations in the mode of treatment as any subsequent unexpected change in the character of the case may dema d. But such variation, and the reason for it, ought to be carefully detailed at the next meeting in consultation. The same privilege belongs also to the consulting physician, if he is sent for in an emergency, when the regular attendant is out of the way, and similar explanations must be made at the next consultation.

Sec. 5. The utmost punctuality should be observed in the visits of physicians when they are to hold consultation together, and this is generally practicable, for society has been considerate enough to allow the plea of a professional engagement to take precedence of all others, and to be an ample reason for the relinquishment of any present occu ation. But, as professional engagements may sometimes interfere, and delay one of the parties, the physician who first arrives should wait for his associate a reasonable period, after which the consultation should be considered as postponed to a new appointment. If it be the attending physician who is present, he will, of course, see the patient and prescribe; but if he be the consulting one, he should retire, except in case of emergency, or when he has been called from a considerable distance, in which latter case he may examine the patient, and give his opinion, in writing and under seal, to be delivered to his associate.

Sec. 6. In consultations, theoretical discussions should be avoided, occasioning perplexity and loss of time. For there may be much diversity of opinion concerning speculative points, with perfect agreement in those modes of practice which are founded, not on hypothesis, but on experience and observation.

Sec. 7. All discussion in consultation should be held as secret and confidential. Neither by words nor manner should any of the parties to a consultation assert or insinuate that any part of the treatment pursued did not receive his assent. The responsibility must be equally divided between the medical attendants—they must equally share the credit of success, as well as the blame of failure.

Sec. 8. Should any irreconcilable diversity of opinion occur when several physicians are called upon to consult together, the opinion of the majority should be considered as decisive; but the members be equal on each side, then the decision should rest with the attending physician. It may, moreover, sometimes happen that two physicians cannot agree in their view of the nature of a case, and the treatment to be pursued. This is a circumstance much to be deplored, and should always be avoided, if possible, by mutual concessions, as far as they can be justified by conscientious regard for the dictates of judgment. But, in e event of its occurrence, a third physician should, if practicable, be called to act as umpire; and if circumstances prevent the adoption of this course, it must be left to the patient to select the physician in whom he is most willing to confide. But, as every physician relies on the rectitude of his judgment, he should, when left in the minority, politely and consistently retire from any further deliberation in the consultation, or participation in the management of the case.

Sec. 9. As circumstances sometimes occur to render a special consultation desirable when the continued attendance of two physicians might be objectionable to the patient, the member of the faculty whose assistance is required in such cases should sedulously guard against all future unsolicited attendance. As such consultations require an extraordinary portion both of time and attention, at least a double honorarium may be reasonably expected.

Sec. 10. A physician who is called upon to consult, should observe the most honorable and scrupulous regard for the character and standing of the practitioner in attendance; the practice of the latter, if necessary, should be justified, as far as it can be, consistently with a conscientious regard for truth, and no hint or insinuation should be thrown out which could impair the confidence reposed in him, or affect his reputation. The consulting physician should also carefully refrain from any of those extraordinary attentions or assiduities which are too often practiced by the dishonest for the base purpose of gaining applause, or ingratiating themselves into the favor of families and individuals.

Art. V.—Duties of Physicians in Cases of Interference.

Sec. 1. Medicine is a liberal profession, and those admitted into its ranks should found their expectations of practice upon the extent of their qualifications, not on intrigue or artifice.

Sec. 2. A physician, in his intercourse with a patient under the care of another practitioner, should observe the strictest caution and reserve. No meddling inquiries should be made—no disingenious hints given relative to the nature and treatment of his disorder; nor any course of conduct pursued that may directly or indirectly tend to diminish the trust reposed in the physician employed.

Sec. 3. The same circumspection and reserve should be observed when, from motives of business or friendship, a physician is prompted to visit an individual who is under the direction of another practitioner. Indeed, such visits should be avoided, except under peculiar circumstances; and, when they are made, no particular inquiries should be instituted relative to the nature of the disease, or the remedies employed, but the topics of conversation should be as foreign to the case as circumstances will admit.

Sec. 4. A physician ought not to take charge of or prescribe for a patient who has recently been under the care of another member of the faculty in the same illness, except in cases of sudden emergency, or in consultation with the physician previously in attendance, or when the latter has relinquished the case, or been regularly notified that his services are no longer desired. Under such circumstances, no unjust or illiberal insinuations should be thrown out in relation to the conduct or practice previously pursued, which should be justified as far as candor and regard for truth and probity will permit; for it often happens that patients become dissatisfied when they do not experience immediate relief, and, as many diseases are naturally protracted, the want of success in the first stage of treatment affords no evidence of a lack of professional knowledge and skill.

Sec. 5. When a physician is called to an urgent case, because the family attendant is not at hand, he ought, unless his assistance in consultation be desired, to resign the care of the patient to the latter immediately upon his arrival.

SEC. 6. It often happens in case of sudden illness, or of recent accidents or injuries, owing to the alarm and anxiety of friends, that a number of physicians are simultaneously sent for. Under these circumstances, courtesy should assign the patient to the first who arrives, who should select from those present any additional assistance that he may deem necessary. In all such cases, however, the practitioner who officiates should request the family physician, if there be one, to be called, and unless his further assistance be requested, should resign the case to the latter on his arrival.

SEC. 7. When a physician is called to the patient of another practitioner, in consequence of the sickness or absence of the latter, he ought, on the return or recovery of the regular attendant, and with the consent of the patient, to surrender the case.

[The expression, "patient of another practitioner," is understood to mean a patient who may have been under the charge of another practitioner at the time of the attack of sickness, or departure from home of the latter, or who may have called for his attendance during his absence or sickness, or in any other manner given it to be understood that he regarded the said physician as his regular medical attendant.]

SEC. 8. A physician when visiting a sick person in the country may be desired to see a neighboring patient, who is under the regular direction of another physician, in consequence of some sudden change or aggravation of symptoms. The conduct to be pursued on such an occasion is to give advice adapted to present circumstances; to interfere no further than is absolutely necessary with the general plan of treatment; to assume no further direction, unless it be expressly desired; and, in this last case, to request an immediate consultation with the practitioner previously employed.

SEC. 9. A wealthy physician should not give advice gratis to the affluent, because his doing so is an injury to his professional brethren. The office of a physician can never be supported as an exclusively beneficent one; and it is defrauding, to some degree, the common funds for its support, when fees are dispensed with which might justly be claimed.

SEC. 10. When a physician who has been engaged to attend a case of midwifery is absent, and another is sent for, if delivery is accomplished during the attendance of the latter, he is entitled to the fee, but should resign the patient to the practitioner first engaged.

Art. VI.—Of Difference Between Physicians.

SEC. 1. Diversity of opinion and opposition of interest may, in the medical as in other professions, sometimes occasion controversy, and even contention Whenever such cases unfortunately occur, and cannot be immediately terminated, they should be referred to the arbitration of a sufficient number of physicians, or a court-medical.

SEC. 2. As a peculiar reserve must be maintained by physicians towards the public, in regard to professional matters, and as there exist numerous points in medical ethics and etiquette through which the feelings of medical men may be painfully assailed in their intercourse with each other, and which cannot be understood or appreciated by general society, neither the subject matter of such differences, nor the adjudication of the arbitrators, should be made public, as publicity in a case of this nature may be personally injurious to the individuals concerned, and can hard y fail to bring discredit on the faculty.

Art. VII.—Of Pecuniary Acknowledgments.

Some general rules should be adopted by the faculty in every town or district, relative to pecuniary acknowledgements from their patients; and it should be deemed a point of honor to adhere to these rules with as much uniformity as varying circumstances will admit.

OF THE DUTIES OF THE PROFESSION TO THE PUBLIC, AND OF THE OBLIGATIONS OF THE PUBLIC TO THE PROFESSION.

Art. I.—Duties of the Profession to the Public.

Sec. 1. As good citizens it is the duty of physicians to be ever vigilant for the welfare of the community, and to bear their part in sustaining its institutions and burdens; they should also be ever ready to give counsel to the public in relation to matters especially appertaining to their profession, as on subjects of medical police, public hygiene, and legal medicine. It is their province to enlighten the public in regard to quarantine regulations—the location, arrangement and dietaries of hospitals, asylums, schools, prisons, and similar institutions,—in relation to the medical police of towns, as drainage, ventilation, etc.,—and in regard to measures for the prevention of epidemic and contagious disease; and when pestilence prevails it is their duty to face the danger, and to continue their labors for the alleviation of suffering, even at the jeopardy of their own lives.

Sec. 2. Medical men should also be always ready, when called on by the legally constituted authorities, to enlighten coroner's inquests and courts of justice on subjects strictly medical—such as involve questions relating to sanity, legitimacy, murder by poisons or other violent means, and in regard to various other subjects embraced in the science of medical jurisprudence. But in these cases, and especially where they are required to make post-mortem examination, it is just, in consequence of the time, labor and skill required, and the responsibility and risk they incur, that the public should award them a proper honorarium.

Sec. 3. There is no profession by the members of which eleemosynary services are more liberally dispensed than the medical; but justice requires that some limit should be placed to the performance of such good offices. Poverty, professional brotherhood, and certain of the public duties referred to in the first section of this article, should always be recognized as presenting valid claims for gaatuitous services; but neither institutions endowed by the public or by rich individuals, societies for mutual benefit, for the insurance of lives, or for analogous purposes, nor any profession or occupation, can be admitted to possess such privilege. Nor can it justly be expected of physicians to furnish certificates of inability to serve on juries, to perform military duty, or to testify to the state of health of persons wishing to insure their lives, to obtain pensions, or the like, without a pecuniary acknowledgment. But to individuals in indigent circumstances such professional services should always be cheerfully and freely accorded.

Sec. 4. It is the duty of physicians, who are frequently witnesses of the enormities committed by quackery, and the injury to health, and even destruction of life, caused by the use of quack medicines, to enlighten the public on these subjects, to expose the injuries sustained by the unwary from the devices and pretensions of artful empirics and imposters. Physicians ought to use all the influence which they may possess, as professors in colleges of pharmacy, and by exercising their option in regard to the shops to which their prescriptions shall be sent, to discourage druggists and apothecaries from vending quack or secret medicine, or from being in any way engaged in their manufacture or sale.

Art. II.—Obligations of the Public to Physicians.

SECTION 1. The benefits accruing to the public, directly or indirectly, from the active and unwearied beneficence of the profession are so numerous and important that physicians are justly entitled to the utmost consideration and respect from the community. The public ought likewise to entertain a just appreciation of medical qualifications; to make a proper discrimination between true science and the assumption of ignorance and empiricism—to afford every encouragement and facility for the acquisition of medical education—and no longer to allow the statute-books to exhibit the anomaly of exacting knowledge from physicians under a liability to heavy penalties, and of making them obnoxious to punishment for resorting to the only means of obtaining it.

CODE OF ETHICS OF THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF HOMŒOPATHY.

SCOPE.

The scope of a Code of Medical Ethics comprises the reciprocal duties and obligations of physicians and patients; the duties and obligations of physicians to each other, and the reciprocal duties and obligations of physicians and the public.

FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES.

The great principles upon which Medical Ethics are based are these:

1. The great end and object of the physician's efforts should be: "The greatest good to the patient."

2. The rule of conduct of physicians and patient, and of physicians towards each other, should be the GOLDEN RULE: "As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise."

The various articles of the code are only special applications of these great principles.

Reciprocal Duties and Obligations of Physicians and the Public.

ARTICLE I. Duties of the Profession to the Public.
ARTICLE II. Obligations of the Public to Physicians.

PART I.

OF THE RECIPROCAL DUTIES AND OBLIGATIONS OF PHYSICIANS AND THEIR PATIENTS.

Article I.—Duties of the Physician to the Patient.

SECTION 1. The physician should hold himself in constant readiness to obey the calls of the sick. He should ever bear in mind the sacred character of his calling and the great responsibility which it involves, and should remember that the comfort, the health and the lives of his patients depend upon the skill, attention and faithfulness with which he performs his professional duties.

SEC. 2. The physician, in order that he may be able to exercise his vocation to the best advantage of the patient, should possess his respect and confidence. These must be acquired and retained by faithful attention to his malady, by indulgent tenderness towards the weaknesses incident to his condition, and by the exercise of a firm but kindly authority. The physician is bound to keep secret whatever he may either hear or observe, while in discharge of his professional duties, respecting the private affairs of the patient or his family. And this obligation is not limited to the period during which the physician is in attendance on the patient. The patient should be made to feel that he has, in the physician, a friend who will guard his secrets with scrupulous honor and fidelity.

SEC. 3. The physician should visit his patient as often as may be necessary to enable him to acquire and keep a full knowledge of the nature, progress, changes and complications of the disease, and to do for the patient the utmost of good that he is able. But he should carefully avoid making unnecessary visits, lest he render the patient needlessly anxious about his case, or expose himself to the charge of being actuated by mercenary motives.

SEC. 4. The physician should not give expression to gloomy forebodings respecting the patient's disease, nor magnify the gravity of the case. Bearing in mind the almost infinite resources of nature, he should be cheerful and hopeful, both in mind and manner. This will enable him the better to exercise his faculties and apply his knowledge for the patient's benefit, and will inspire the patient with confidence, courage and fortitude, which are the physician's best moral adjuvants.

But it is the physician's duty to state the true nature and prospects of the case, from time to time, to some judicious friend or relative of the patient, and to keep this person fully informed of its changes and probable issue; and if the patient himself request the physician to disclose to him the nature and prognosis of his disease, it is his duty to state, tenderly but frankly, the whole truth—provided the patient be of sound mind, and strong enough to receive the disclosure without serious injury. The patient has a right to know the truth. If, moreover, facts within the physician's knowledge lead him to believe that it is of great importance, in relation to the patient's affairs, that he should be warned of the approach of death, it is the physician's duty to reveal to the patient's nearest friend, or to the patient himself, the true state of the case, and the importance of timely action.

SEC. 5. Whether the case proceed favorably, or become manifestly incurable, it is the physician's duty to continue his attendance faithfully and conscientiously so long as the patient may desire it. He is not justified in abandoning a case merely because he supposes it incurable.

Sec. 6. As the patient has an undoubted right to dismiss his physician for reasons satisfactory to himself, so, likewise, the physician may, with equal propriety, decline to attend patients, when his self-respect or dignity seem to him to require this step; as, for example, when they persistently refuse to comply with his directions.

Sec. 7. In difficult or protracted cases, consultations are advisable. They tend to increase the knowledge, energy and confidence of the physician, and to maintain the courage of the patient. The physician should be ready to act upon any desire which the patient may express for a consultation, even though he may not himself feel the need of it. Nothing is so likely to maintain the patient's confidence as alacrity in this respect. Moreover, such a course is but just to him, for he has an indisputable right to whatever aid or counsel he may think likely to be of service to him.

Sec. 8. The intimate relations into which the physician is brought with his patient give him opportunity to exercise a powerful moral influence over him. This should always be exerted to turn him from dangerous or vicious courses towards a temperate and virtuous life. The physician is sometimes called to assist in practices of questionable propriety, and even a criminal character. Among these may be mentioned the pretense of disease, in order to evade services demanded by law, as jury or military duty; the concealment of organic disease or of morbid tendencies, in order to secure favorable rates of life insurance, or for deception of other kinds; and especially the procurement of abortion when not necessary to save the life of the mother. To all such propositions the physician should present an inflexible opposition. It is his duty, in an authoritative but friendly manner, to explain and urge the nature, illegality and guilt of the proposed action, and to use every effort to dissuade from it, and to strengthen the patient's virtue and sense of right. The physician should be aware of the frequency of criminal abortion, and of the different methods employed for it, and should take every occasion to warn those who may be tempted to resort to it. In no case should the physician induce abortion, or premature labor, without a previous consultation with the most experienced practitioners attainable, nor without the most clear and imperative reasons.

Art. II.—Duties and Obligations of Patients to their Physician.

Section 1. Physicians are required, by the nature of their profession, to sacrifice comfort, ease, and even health, for the sake of their patients. Patients should reflect upon this, and should understand and remember that they have corresponding duties and obligations towards their physicians.

Sec. 2. The patient should select a physician in whose knowledge, skill, and fidelity he can place implicit confidence; whose habits of life are regular and temperate, and whose character and demeanor are such that he can regard him as a personal friend. He must be able to confide in him freely. And the physician should not be changed for light reasons. A physician thoroughly acquainted with the constitutions, temperaments and tendencies of a family can the more successfully treat them.

Sec. 3. The patient should always consult his physician as early as possible after he has discovered that he is ill. A disease which is trifling at its onset may grow formidable through neglect. The physician should be regarded as a confidential adviser, who, on being early consulted, may prevent a sickness.

Sec. 4. The patient should faithfully and unreservedly state to his physician the supposed cause of his malady, and tell him everything that may have a bearing upon its nature. Since the physician is under the strongest obligations to secrecy, the patient should not allow considerations of delicacy, modesty, or pride to prevent an entirely frank statement of his case, and candid and full replies to interrogatories.

Sec. 5. The patient should implicitly obey his physician's injunctions as regards diet, regimen and medical treatment. If he deviates from these directions, he cannot hold the physician to a full responsibility in the case; and, further, by a partial obedience he incurs some personal risk, since, in the treatment of diseases, all parts of the physician's advice are made to harmonize, and each is dependent on the others and may be unsafe without the coincidence of the others. Moreover, he does the physician an undeserved and often a serious wrong. If the patient have not sufficient confidence in his physician, and respect for him, to follow his directions, it were better for him frankly to say so, and to employ another in whom he can confide.

The patient should never allow himself, while under a physician's treatment, to take other medicines than those prescribed by him. He would, by so doing, incur a serious risk of taking medicines that are incompatible with each other. If desirous of trying any other mode of treatment, it would be much better frankly to state the fact to his physician, and ask his advice.

Sec. 6. The patient should, if possible, avoid receiving the friendly visits of a physician other than the one under whose charge he is. When he receives such visits, he should avoid conversation on the subject of his disease; for an accidental observation might give him false impressions respecting his disease, or destroy his confidence in the treatment he is pursuing. He should never send for a consulting physician without the express consent of his own medical attendant; for physicians can act together for the advantage of their patient only when they act harmoniously. Nor should he, by a secret appointment, constrain his medical attendant to meet another physician with whom he might not be willing to consult; but the patient has an undoubted right to have the opinion of any physician whom he may desire upon his case. His proper course is to request his medical attendant to arrange a consultation, and frankly state his desire for the physician whom he may prefer. If his medical attendant decline the consultation, it is then for the patient to determine whether he will insist, and thus dismiss his medical attendant, or whether he will defer to the judgment of his own physician. And a patient has a right thus to choose.

Sec. 7. If the patient wishes to dismiss his physician, he should, in justice and common courtesy, state his reasons, and, if possible, in a friendly manner. To dispense with the services of a physician need not, of necessity, change the social relations of the parties.

Sec. 8. The patient should, when practicable, send for the physician in the morning, before his usual hour for leaving home. He will, by so doing, secure his earlier attendance, and will enable him the better to apportion his time so as to do justice to all his calls and engagements. He should call on his physician during his office hours only, and should avoid disturbing him in hours devoted to meals, rest and sleep. And in receiving his physician's visits, he should avoid compelling him to wait, even a few minutes. The aggregate of petty detentions, while the patient is making some needless preparation to receive the physician, amounts to a serious waste of valuable time.

PART II.

OF THE DUTIES AND OBLIGATIONS OF PHYSICIANS TO THE PROFESSION AND TO EACH OTHER.

Article I.—Duties to the Profession.

SECTION 1. Inasmuch as every member of the medical profession partakes of the honor in which it is held, is entitled to its privileges and immunities, and profits by the scientific labors of his predecessors and associates, it is his duty faithfully to endeavor, in his turn, to elevate the position of the profession and, by every honorable exertion, to enrich the science of medicine.

SEC. 2. In no other profession should a higher standard of morality and greater purity of personal character be required. Physicians ought to come up to this standard, and do what they may to exalt it. As the practice of medicine requires the constant exercise of a vigorous and clear understanding, and as the practitioner should be, at all times, ready for emergencies in which the welfare and even the life of a fellow creature may depend upon his steady hand, acute eye, and unclouded brain, it is incumbent upon the physician to be temperate in all things.

SEC. 3. The physician should not resort to public advertisements or private cards or handbills, inviting the attention of persons affected by particular diseases, or publicly offering advice and medicine to the poor, gratis, or promising radical cures. Neither should he publish cases or operations in the daily prints; nor invite laymen to be present at operations; nor solicit or exhibit certificates of skill and success; nor perform any similar act.

SEC. 4. It is equally derogatory to professional character for a physician to hold a patent for any nostrum or any surgical instrument or appliance; or to keep secret the nature and composition of any medicine used by him. Such restriction or concealment is inconsistent with the beneficence and liberality which should characterize the medical profession. But it is the duty of the physician to avail himself of every opportunity to observe the action and study the properties of new or secret remedies and new processes of preparing medicines as well as new modes of treating diseases, and to subject them to the analysis of scientific investigation. For the physician should always bear in mind that the great object of his profession is to cure the sick, and that it is not only admissible, but is his solemn duty to investigate, thoroughly and without prejudice, whatever offers any probability of adding to his knowledge of the art and means of curing, and of thus enriching the science of medicine.

Article II.—Professional Services of Physicians to each other.

SECTION 1. All practitioners of medicine, their wives, and children while under the paternal care, are entitled to the gratuitous services of any one or more of the faculty residing near them. Physicians, when ill, are incompetent to prescribe for themselves. The natural anxiety and solicitude which they feel for members of their own family when ill, tend to obscure their professional judgment and make it difficult to treat them. Under these circumstances, physicians are peculiarly dependent on each other; and kind offices and professional aid should always be cheerfully and gratuitously afforded. But visits should not be obtruded, officiously or unasked, upon a sick physician.

If, however, a physician in affluent circumstances request the attendance of a distant professional brother and offer an honorarium, it is not proper to decline it; for one should not, even from a kindly motive, impose upon another a pecuniary obligation which the recipient would not wish to incur.

If a physician is called from any considerable distance, the expense of travel, etc., thereby incurred, should always be paid by the physician receiving the visit; and an honorarium may be tendered if much time is consumed in making the visit.

Article III.—Duties of Physicians as Regards Vicarious Offices.

Section 1. Attention to his personal affairs, the pursuit of health, and the various contingencies to which the physician is peculiarly exposed, sometimes compel him temporarily to withdraw from his duties to his patients, and to request some of his professional brethren to discharge them for him. Compliance with such a request is an act of courtesy which should always be performed with the utmost consideration for the interests and character of the physician relieved. And when this is done for a short period only, all the pecuniary obligations for such services should belong to him. But if a physician neglect his business in quest of amusement and pleasure, he is not entitled to the frequent and long-continued exercise of this fraternal courtesy without conceding to the physician who acts for him the fees accruing from the duties discharged by the latter.

Sec. 2. Obstetrical and surgical cases involve unusual fatigue and responsibility; and it is just that the fees accruing therefrom should belong to the physician who attends them.

Article IV.—Duties of Physicians in Regard to Consultations.

Section 1. A complete medical education, of which the diploma of a medical college is the formal voucher, furnishes the only presumptive evidence of professional acquirements and abilities. But the annals of the profession contain the names of some who, not having the advantages of a complete medical education, became, nevertheless, through their own exertions and abilities, brilliant scholars and successful practitioners. A practitioner, therefore, whatever his credentials may be, who enjoys a good moral and professional standing in the community, should not be excluded from fellowship, nor his aid rejected, when it is desired by the patient in consultation. No difference in views on subjects of medical principles or practice should be allowed to influence a physician against consenting to a consultation with a fellow practitioner. The very object of a consultation is to bring together those who may, perhaps, differ in their views of the disease and its appropriate treatment, in the hope that, from a comparison of different views, may be derived a just estimate of the disease and a successful course of treatment.

No tests of orthodoxy in medical practice should be applied to limit the freedom of consultations. Medicine is a progressive science. Its history shows that what is heresy in one century may and probably will be orthodoxy in the next. No greater misfortune can befall the medical profession than the action of an influential association or academy establishing a creed or standard of orthodoxy or "regularity." It will be fatal to freedom and progress in opinion and practice. On the other hand, nothing will so stimulate the healthy growth of the profession, both in scientific strength and in the honorable estimation of the public, as the universal and sincere adoption of a platform which shall recognize and guarantee:—

1. A truly fraternal good-will and fellowship among all who devote themselves to the care of the sick.

2. A thorough and complete knowledge, however obtained, of all the direct and collateral branches of medical science,—as it exists in all sects and schools of medicine,—as the essential qualification of a physician.

3. Perfect freedom of opinion and practice, is the unquestionable prerogative of the practitioner, who is the sole judge of what is the best mode of treatment in each case of sickness intrusted to his care.

The physician may, with propriety, decline to meet a practitioner of whose inimical feelings towards himself or of whose general unfairness in consultations he is satisfied. But, in such a case, he should explain to the patient his reasons; and if the patient desire the opinion of the practitioner objected to, the family physician may withdraw from the case and allow the other to be sent for. But, in justice to the latter, the state of affairs should be explained to him at the time he is requested to visit the patient.

Sec. 2. The utmost punctuality should be observed in the visits of physicians when they are to hold consultations together; and this is generally practicable, for society allows the plea of professional engagements to excuse the neglect of all others, and to be a valid reason for the relinquishment of any present occupation. But, as professional engagements may sometimes interfere and delay one of the parties, the physician who first arrives should wait for his associate a reasonable period of time, after which the consultation should be considered postponed to a new appointment. If it be the attending physician who is present, he will, of course, see the patient and prescribe; but if it be the consulting physician he should retire without seeing the patient, except in casee of emergency or when he has been called from a considerable distance, in which case he may examine the patient, and give his opinion in writing and under seal, to be delivered to the attending physician.

Sec. 3. In consultations, no rivalry or jealously should be indulged in. Candor, probity, and all due respect should be exercised toward the physician in charge of the case. If the consulting physician cannot agree with him respecting the nature and proper treatment of the case, the physician should state this fact to the patient, or his nearest friend, both physicians being present at the time, and should request him to select the one in whom he has the most confidence. But, if they agree sufficiently to take joint charge of the case, then the consulting physician must justify and uphold, so far as he can conscientiously do so, the practice of his associate, and must abstain from any hints, insinuations or actions which might, in any way, impair the confidence which the patient reposes in him, or affect his reputation. He must refrain from any extraordinary attentions or assiduities, calculated to ingratiate himself in the patient's favor and to supplant his associate.

Sec. 4. In consultations, the attending physician should first put the necessary questions to the patient. After this, the consulting physician should make such additional inquiries and examinations as may be needed to satisfy him of the true nature of the case. But he should avoid making a parade of examining the patient more thoroughly than had been done before; rather suggesting to the attending physician, where this is possible, to make whatever examinations he desires, than making them himself. Both physicians should then retire to a private room for deliberation.

Sec. 5. In consultation the attending physician should deliver his opinion first; and, when there several consulting physicians, they should express their opinions in the order in which they have been called in. Should an irreconcilable diversity of opinion occur, when more than two physicians meet in consultation, the opinion of the majority should be regarded as decisive; but, if the number be equal on each side, the decision should rest with the attending physician. If two physicians, in consultation, cannot agree, they should call in a third to act as umpire. If this be not practicable, the patient must be requested to select the physician in whom he is most willing to confide. The physician who is left in the minority should, without any ill-feeling, retire from the consultation and from any further participation in the management of the case; and, in justice to the physician thus retiring, the fact of his difference from his associates should, in the presence of all the physicians attending, be explained to the patient, as his reason for withdrawing from the case.

Sec. 6. The attending physician should communicate to the patient or his friends the directions agreed upon in the consultation, as well as any opinion which it may be thought proper to express. But no statement or discussion should take place before the patient or his friends, except in the presence of all the physicians attending, and by their common consent. And no opinions or prognostications should be delivered, which are not the result of previous deliberation and concurrence. No decision arrived at in a consultation is to be regarded as restraining the attending physician from making such variations in the treatment as any subsequent change in the case may demand. But such variation and the reasons for it, ought to be carefully noted at the time, and detailed at the next meeting in consultation. The same privilege belongs also to the consulting physician, if he is sent for in an emergency when the attending physician is out of the way; and similar explanations must be made by him at the next meeting.

Sec. 7. Sometimes a special consultation is desirable in cases in which the continued attendance of two physicians might be objectionable to the patient. The consulting physician, in such a case, should sedulously avoid all further unsolicited attendance. Such consultations require an extraordinary outlay of time and attention, and at least a double honorarium may be reasonably expected.

Sec. 8. The consulting physician cannot, with propriety, take exclusive charge, at any time, of the patient in whose case he has been called in consultation, without the consent of the attending physician, except in cases provided for by the third sentence of section 3, and the fourth sentence of section 5, of this article.

Article V.—Duties of Physicians in Cases of Interference.

Sec. 1. Medicine is a liberal profession, and those admitted into its ranks should base their expectations of success upon the extent of their qualifications, not upon intrigue or artifice. A physician should not allow himself to feel envious or jealous of a brother-practitioner. The distinction which one successful physician wins is shared by the whole profession. Nor should a physician suffer himself to feel ill-will towards another who may come into his neighborhood and appears likely to take a share of the business which he has hitherto enjoyed. Such feelings are inconsistent with the beneficent and liberal nature of the profession. Liberality, and true generous fraternity in thought, word and deed, will unite the interests of all the members of the profession, and will so exalt the estimation in which it is held in the community that, confidence being increased, business will likewise increase; and to physicians will be accorded the position which, of right, should be theirs; that of confidential family advisers in all matters pertaining to the care of the body in health, no less than in sickness.

Sec. 2. The physician, in his intercourse with a patient who is under the care of another practitioner, should observe the strictest caution and reserve.

No meddling questions should be asked in any interview for business or friendship, no disingenuous hints thrown out relating to the nature and treatment of his disorder; nor should the patient be allowed to converse upon these topics. No course of conduct should be pursued which might, directly or indirectly, tend to diminish the trust reposed in the physician employed.

Sec. 3. A physician should not take charge of a patient who is, or has recently been, under the charge of another practitioner in the same illness, except in cases of sudden emergency, or in consultation with the physician previously in attendance, or when the latter has relinquished the case, or has been regularly notified that his services are no longer required. Under such circumstances no unjust or illiberal remarks should be made or insinuations thrown out in relation to the treatment pursued by the previous physician. Nor should the physician permit the patient unreasonably to find fault with his predecessor. For patients often become dissatisfied with their attendant on account of the mere duration of a case which no degree of professional knowledge or skill could have shortened.

Sec. 4. In cases of accident or sudden emergency, one or more physicians are often sent for by alarmed friends. Courtesy should assign the patient to the first of these that arrives; and he should select from those present such additional assistance as he may deem necessary. But he should also request the family physician (if there be one) to be sent for, and, on his arrival, resign the case into his hands. The practitioner of the patient, when he arrives, should take the place of any one called in his absence. "The practitioner of any patient" is the man whom he has in any way given to understand that he regards him as his medical adviser, or who would now be in charge of the case were it not for his absence, sickness or other disability.

Sec. 5. In a sparce population, a physician, when visiting a sick person, may be desired to see, in an emergency, a neighboring patient who is under the regular charge of another physician. The conduct to be pursued on such an occasion is: to give advice adapted to present circumstances; to interfere as little as possible with the general plan of treatment; to assume no farther directions of the case unless it be expressly desired; and, in the latter case, to request an immediate consultation with the practitioner previously employed.

Sec. 6. A wealthy physician should not give advice gratis to the affluent; because his so doing is an injury to his professional brethren. The office of the physician can never be supported as an exclusively beneficent one; and it is defrauding, in some degree, the common fund when fees are dispensed with which might justly be claimed.

Sec. 7. When a physician who has been engaged to attend a case of midwifery is absent and another is sent for, if delivery is accomplished in the absence of the former, the latter is entitled to the fee, but he should resign the patient to the practitioner first engaged.

Article VI.—Of Differences Between Physicians.

Section 1. Diversity of opinion and opposition of interests may, in the medical, as in other professions, sometimes occasion controversy and even contention. When such cases occur and cannot be immediately terminated, they should be referred to the arbitration of a sufficient number of physicians, or a court-medical.

Article VII.—Of Pecuniary Acknowledgments.

Section 1. Some general rules should be adopted by the physicians in every town or district, relative to pecuniary acknowledgments from patients. These should be adhered to by physicians as uniformly as circumstances will permit. They serve, likewise, as a standard to which appeal may be taken in cases of doubt or dispute.

Sec. 2. Members of the medical profession have been so uniformly in the habit of attending, gratuitously, the indigent sick, and, in general, of answering every call promptly, and without a question as to whether they are to receive remuneration therefor, that many persons seem to think they have a right to demand the services of a physician; and do, in fact, call upon them freely, and neglect or refuse to render any pecuniary equivalent, although abundantly able to do so. They impose upon one physician, in this way, until they have exhausted his patience, and then call upon another; and thus, in the course of a few years, make the circuit of the profession in their neighborhood. It is proper for the physicians of a community to make a list of the names of such individuals, and to demand, before visiting those whose names are on it, adequate security that their honorarium will be paid.

PART III.

THE RECIPROCAL DUTIES AND OBLIGATIONS OF PHYSICIANS AND THE PUBLIC.

Article I.—Duties of Physicians to the Public.

Section 1. As good citizens, it is the duty of physicians to be vigilant for the welfare of the community, and to bear their part in sustaining its institutions and burdens. They should be always ready to give counsel to the public, in relation to matters appertaining to their profession; as, for example, on subjects of medical police, public hygiene and legal medicine. It is their province to enlighten the public in regard to quarantine regulations, the location, arrangement and dietaries of hospitals, asylums, schools, prisons and similar institutions; in relation to the medical police of towns, drainage, ventilation, etc., and in regard to measures for the prevention of epidemic and contagious diseases. And, when pestilence prevails, it is their duty to face the danger, and to continue their labors for the alleviation of suffering, and the saving of life, even at the risk of their own lives.

Sec. 2. Physicians should always be ready when called on by the proper authorities, to enlighten coroners' inquests and courts of justice on matters strictly medical, such as involve questions relating to insanity, legitimacy, or sudden and violent deaths, and in regard to the various other subjects embraced in the science of medical jurisprudence. But, in these cases, and especially where they are required to make post-mortem examinations, it is just and right, in consequence of the time, labor and skill required, and the responsibility and risk they incur, that the public should award them more than a mere consulting fee.

Sec. 3. There is no profession, by the members of which eleemosynary services are more freely dispensed than they are by physicians; but justice demands that some limit should be placed to the claims upon such offices at their hands. Poverty, professional brotherhood, the benevolent and scantily remunerated occupation of the individual patient, and certain of the public duties referred to in Sec. 1 of this Article, should always be recognized as presenting valid claims for gratuitous services. But neither institutions endowed by the public or by rich individuals, societies for mutual benefit, for the insurance of lives or for analagous purposes, nor any profession or occupation can be admitted to possess such privilege. Nor can it be justly expected of physicians to furnish certificates of inability to serve on juries, or perform military duty, or to certify to the state of health of parties wishing to insure their lives, obtain pensions or the like, without a pecuniary acknowledgment. But to indigent persons such professional services should always be cheerfully and freely accorded.

Article II. Obligations of the Public to Physicians.

SECTION 1. The benefit accruing to the public, directly and indirectly, from the active and constant labors and beneficence of the medical profession are so numerous and important that physicians are justly entitled to the utmost consideration from the community. The public ought, likewise, to entertain a just appreciation of the proper qualifications of a practitioner of medicine; to make a due discrimination between true science and the assumptions of ignorance and empiricism; to afford every encouragement and facility for the acquisition of medical education, and not to allow the provisions of their statute books or of the prospectus of their chartered institutions to interpose any obstacles to the attainment of the fullest knowledge of every branch of medical science, or, in any way, to restrain the most entire freedom of thought, investigation, and action in matters appertaining to the practice of medicine.

CODE OF ETHICS OF THE NATIONAL ECLECTIC MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

SECTION 1. The members of this association shall exercise toward each other, toward all physicians, eclectics especially, and toward all mankind, that courtesy and just dealing to which every one in his legitimate sphere is entitled, and any departure therefrom shall be deemed unprofessional, undignified and unworthy the honorable practitioner of an honorable profession. It shall be regarded as unbecoming to engage in any form of practice, or of advertising, which shall tend to lower the physician in the esteem of the community, or to reflect discredit upon his professional associates.

SEC. 2. While it is the undoubted right of every physician to present himself before the public in an honorable manner, and to state that he makes a specialty of any particular disease, no member of this association shall advertise himself by handbills, circulars, publication of certificates of cures, or any such means; nor associate himself in business professionally with any one so doing; nor advertise himself as belonging to this association, or any auxiliary medical society or any medical college. Any member knowing of any violation of this provision by members of this association, or of any person not a member of this association or any auxiliary medical society advertising himself as such, shall inform the Executive Committee of the matter with all the facts in his possession; and it shall be the duty of the Executive Committee thereupon to publish the facts in some public journal, circulating in the region where such offense has been committed.

Discipline of Members.

SECTION 1. Any member may be officially censured, invited to withdraw, or expelled from membership, for improper conduct, or a violation of professional comity. But it shall be necessary for a specific charge to be made in writing, and a copy to be presented to the person accused, or some person acting in his behalf, and another placed in the hands of the President or Secretary one month before the time of holding a regular meeting.

SEC. 2. All professors or officers of colleges voting and otherwise co-operating in the conferring of the degree of Doctor of Medicine on any person not duly entitled to the same, by the necessary attendance on medical lectures and thorough examinations, shall be considered as liable to the penalties enumerated in this article.

THE CHICAGO COLLEGE OF OPHTHALMOLOGY AND OTOLOGY.

Located at 527 State street, corner Harrison street. Is in a central part of the city and easy of access. It is designed for instructing physicians and those who wish to gain a higher knowledge in the science of Ophthalmology and Otology.

A free clinic is connected with it, that students may have practice in the art of applying the medicines to patients, which enables them to acquire practical knowledge while in the College. Tables will be set apart for students to work at during the time of the clinics. A large dark room is provided for students to practice in the use of the opthalmoscope, laryngoscope and rhinoscope, thus giving them the practice which they so much need. Lectures on refraction and optics will form a part of the instructions given during the course.

The importance of maintaining an Eye and Ear College cannot be too highly estimated, as physicians throughout the country are (as a rule) not qualified to examine and diagnose intra-ocular diseases, and he who is thus qualified has a very strong point in his favor.

Board of Trustees.—Henry Olin, M. D., Pres.; J. B. McFatrich, M. D., Vice-Pres.; Eli Wight, M. D.; A. L. Willard, M. D.; A. E. Bassett, M. D.; C. E. Starrett, M. D.

SPRING · BANK.

• • • TO THE PUBLIC. • • •

THE view on inside front cover represents the grounds and residence of the late CAPT. T. L. PARKER, situated about three miles from the city of Oconomowoc, on a lake bearing the same name. Having secured and fitted this beautiful place as a summer resort, I am prepared to give tourists every accommodation. Having a large farm in connection with the grounds, I have my own dairy products, poultry yards, gardens and a fine livery. The fishing is fine, as the lakes abound in black bass, pickerel, etc. For accessibility, position, beauty of location, salubrity of atmosphere, and the purity of water from its numerous springs, it has no equal in Wisconsin. Parties seeking health or pleasure will be well repaid a visit to this Eden of the Northwest. The cuisine will be of the best the markets afford. Guests bringing their own conveyances and coachmen will find ample accommodation for them at

"SPRING BANK."

Special rates to season guests, for which address the proprietress,

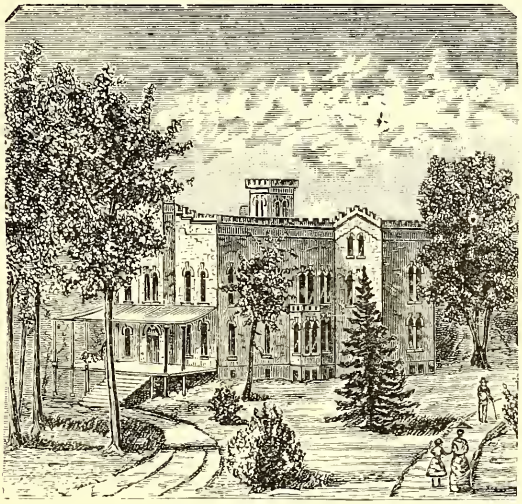
OAKWOOD ⁜ SPRINGS ⁜ SANITARIUM,

LAKE GENEVA, WIS.



HOTEL "LAKESIDE."

THE plans of the Sanitarium include three principal buildings—Hotels "Erb," "Maudsley" and "Lakeside." About fifty patients can at present be accommodated in the two finished Hotels; the plans of which are such as to give to each patient a room, or a suite, as may be required. These communicate with the parlors and halls, so as to afford, in all suitable cases, the utmost freedom and enjoyment of house and grounds. Or, when desirable, many of the most pleasant rooms can be entirely isolated from all others. By these plans, therefore, it is possible to permit the greatest freedom and at the same time to protect every patient in the house from annoyance by any other. Cheerfulness, comfort and safety have been the controlling ideas in the architecture. No crowding is at any time permitted, and the number under treatment will be governed, at all times and entirely, by the best interests of the patients themselves.

In summer we live much out of doors; in winter the buildings are thoroughly warmed in every room, parlor and chamber, from basement to attic, with perfect ventilation, and there is scarcely a room in the entire plan into which the sun may not shine, at some hour during the day. The Sanitarium is not only a summer retreat, but a perfect home of winter comfort.

For further information, class of patients admitted, etc., please see pages 16, 121, and others.

CHICAGO OPERA HOUSE BLOCK.

To the Medical Profession:

Your attention is invited to our institution, established some months since. None but skilled workmen are employed—no students or apprentices—and nothing but first-class work done. All extracting free, and all fillings, crown work, etc., is done at the smallest possible price. As we buy all our materials in large quantities, for cash, we are enabled to do work for what other houses are compelled to pay for the material alone.

On account of our large force of mechanical dentists, etc., we are enabled to do work in the shortest possible time, and at the least inconvenience to our patrons.

In this age of fancy prices and cheap student work at so-called dental colleges, physicians can serve the best interests of their patients by recommending them to a place where first-class work can be obtained at little more than the cost of materials, and done promptly. No waiting.

We can make artificial teeth in less time, and for less money, than any other place in the United States.

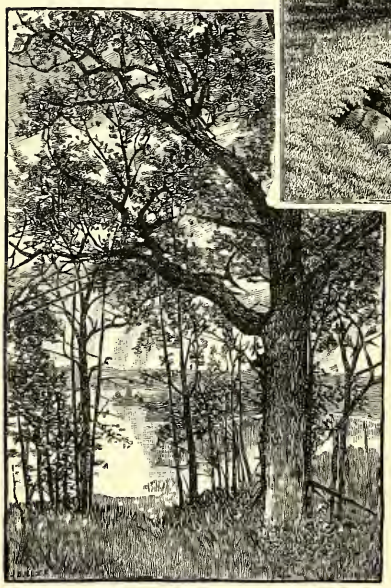
H. C. MAGNUSSON,

President.

Oakwood Springs SANITARIUM,

Lake Geneva, Wis.

A View on Lake Geneva.



"LAKE ELBA." WITHIN THE GROUNDS OF OAKWOOD.

THE SANITARIUM is in the midst of a region, 20 by 30 miles in extent, having the smallest death rate of any such area in the United States. Malaria is here unknown.

Lake Geneva is 9 miles long and 200 feet deep. It has no inlet, save the pure Silurian Springs that gush from its bed and banks.

In summer, the excursions by steam, sail and row-boats; the drives, fishing and outdoor amusements in the perfect grounds of Oakwood, afford recreation. In cold weather, the Sanitarium is a perfect home of winter comforts.

For Medical Staff, class of patients treated, address, etc., please see pages 16, 121, 137, 183 and 190, in this Directory.

Over eleven thousand different operations were performed in its operating rooms during the past year, giving its students unusual facilities for the practice necessary to a complete education in this specialty of medicine.

The fourth annual winter session opens on the first Wednesday in October and continues six months. Graduates in medicine may have its degree conferred after one year's practical experience in dentistry and attendance upon one winter's course of lectures.

OAKWOOD SPRINGS SANITARIUM,

LAKE GENEVA, WIS.

A FOREST DRIVE

Within the grounds of OAKWOOD SPRINGS SANITARIUM.

WHILE this park lies wholly within the city limits, it is by nature so bounded as to render the entire park absolutely private, affording patients the most perfect seclusion and at the same time the utmost freedom of action and enjoyment. It has a third of a mile frontage on Main street, and extends northward more than a quarter of a mile. It lies also within five minutes' walk of the post-office, railway station and hotels. Across one corner of the park flows the swift and sparkling creek, or White River, the outlet of Lake Geneva, which, in its course, forms Lake "Elba" within the park (see page 170), twenty feet in its deepest soundings, and covering an area of twenty acres. It is confidently believed that there is not another site, in the whole country, equaling in beauty and so perfectly adapted to the requirements and convenience of such an institution.

Oakwood Springs Sanitarium.

OAKWOOD SPRINGS PARK FROM THE NORTH.

THE grounds consist of a beautifully wooded park of sixty-three acres overlooking Lake Geneva and the city, and commanding the most delightful and extensive views. It is, in its highest point, more than fifty feet above the lake, and presents a charmingly undulating surface, covered, in its entire area, by great oaks and magnificent forest trees. Its slopes, while nowhere abrupt and everywhere sufficiently gentle to permit of easy ascent, yet lead to valleys of sufficient depth to give the most delightful variety and pleasing effect to the landscape. The buildings consist of two principal hotels (the plans of a third have just been completed by the architect). The hotels are widely separated from each other, each having independent and extensive grounds. These buildings are not "hotels" in the common acceptation of the word, as they are not open to the traveling public, nor to the summer resorters. Apartments can be taken only by patients actually under treatment. Neither are they like hotels in construction, but outwardly have the character of grand private mansions, while in internal construction they are arranged so as to give to guests all the quiet and privacy of their own homes. This Sanitarium is exclusively for treatment of diseases of the Brain and Nervous System.

Practical Suggestions to Physicians and Dentists

AS TO COLLECTION OF ACCOUNTS.

First. At least once a month make out and place in collector's hands all accounts over sixty days. Where you will save one dollar in commissions by delay you will lose ten through bills becoming uncollectible. The older the bill the more reluctant the patient is to pay, and nothing so surely keeps a patient away as an unpaid bill.

Second. Always, at time first treatment is given, take full name and residence and business address of the patient, or, if patient is a woman, of the husband or father.

Third. Do not treat a party in the expectation that a third party will pay the bill, unless you have such third party's written agreement to pay for the services. A verbal promise to pay for services rendered another, after the services are rendered, is legally worthless. Such a promise, made before the services are rendered, is usually practically worthless.

Fourth. Let your bills or statements be itemized, at least sufficiently to show dates between which the services were rendered and what the services were.

Fifth. Always make out bills in first instance for full amount, which you, in any event, may desire to recover. Let any offers of discount for prompt payment, etc., be made orally.

Sixth. Enter your accounts on your books, and make out bills against the party or parties (not necessarily the patient) whom you expect to hold responsible.

Seventh. Place all your collections in the hands of the Physicians' Collection Association.

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE HAS DEMONSTRATED THE NECESSITY OF A CLOSE OBSERVANCE OF THE ABOVE SUGGESTIONS.
